GENERAL INFORMATION

History and Background

A Cathedral dedicated to St Paul has overlooked the City of London since 604 AD and the current Cathedral was built between 1675 and 1710 by Sir Christopher Wren.

As the Cathedral of the capital city, St Paul's is often the spiritual focus for the nation holding events of national importance as well as serving as a busy, working church.

This ancient heritage and purpose is enriched by the requirement in today's society to engage with various constituencies as the Cathedral fulfils its mission. These may be characterised as (a) the Bishop and Diocese of London, (b) the City of London as one of the world's business and financial centres (c) the United Kingdom as the Cathedral fulfils a national and state role and (d) the international context as it becomes an increasingly important icon of faith overseas.

Our Mission Statement

St Paul's Cathedral seeks to enable people in all their diversity to encounter the transforming presence of God in Jesus Christ.

Our Vision

- St Paul's is seen primarily as a living Christian Church
- We will be a centre for welcome, worship and learning, and though our care and imagination, will inspire successive generations to engage with the richness of the Christian faith and its heritage.
- Working with the Bishop and Diocese of London and the wider Church, we will be a spiritual focus for people across London, the nation and a broader international audience.
- Our work will promote dignity and justice for everyone.

Our Values

Welcome – we all offer a warm inclusive welcome to everyone: our colleagues, volunteers and each and every visitor

Responsible – we are all responsible for each other and for part of the whole of the Cathedral's work, not the whole of a part

Effective – we are professional and do what we say we are going to do

Nourish – we have a learning culture, not a blame culture

MUSIC AT ST PAUL'S

There has been a choir of Boy Choristers and Vicars Choral at St Paul's Cathedral for over nine centuries. The structure of the present choir, consisting of twenty four singing boys, five probationers and twelve Vicars Choral, was established in the last century when Sir John Stainer was the Cathedral Organist. In addition to providing music for the daily liturgical life of the Cathedral, the choir also enjoys a world-wide reputation through its many recordings, broadcasts and tours. Recent high profile occasions for the choir and organists have included the Diamond Jubilee and 90th birthday celebrations of Her Majesty The Queen, and the funeral of Baroness Thatcher and the Grenfell Tower National Memorial Service. The choristers (together with non-chorister day children) attend the Cathedral School, situated east of the Cathedral on New Change.

The current music staff at the Cathedral are as follows:

Andrew Carwood	(Director of Music)
Simon Johnson	(Organist & Assistant Director of Music)
William Fox	(Sub-Organist)
James Orford	(Organ Scholar – leaving in August 2019)
Tom Daggett	(OBE Organ Outreach Fellow)
Angela Palotai	(Music Department Administrator)
Lucy Pieroni	(Assistant Music Department Administrator)

The Precentor is the member of Chapter directly responsible for the work of the Music Department.

The present pattern of regular choral worship at St Paul's encompasses Mattins, Eucharist, and Evensong on Sunday, together with Evensong on every weekday. The Christian year provides the framework for additional liturgical activities in which the choir and the organists play an essential part, together with a wide range of national and city services and events on a regular and an occasional basis.

In addition to the music for services, the Music Department runs a year-long programme of concerts and organ recitals. These include a series of celebrity organ recitals through the summer months, regular Sunday organ recitals, and performances with orchestra of Handel's Messiah in Advent, a Bach Passion before Easter and Sunday morning Eucharist services in July.

THE ORGANS

The Cathedral has five pipe-organs.

The Grand Organ is generally considered to be one of the finest instruments in the world. It began life in 1694, when 'Father' Bernard Smith built an organ that occupied a screen in the Quire. In 1872, 'Father' Henry Willis completed what was essentially a new instrument for the Cathedral. The original Wren case was divided in half, modified, and placed against the pillars supporting the Dome on either side of the Quire, where it remains today. Numerous additions and alterations were made to this instrument throughout the first two-thirds of the twentieth-century, particularly by Henry Willis III.

From 1972-77 N.P. Mander Ltd reconstructed the whole of the organ, preserving and returning the character of Father Willis' organ in the Chancel, whilst also making it more versatile with the provision of a new North Choir division. The present incarnation of the Dome and West divisions also dates from then and they provide muscular support in the accompaniment of congregations, together with a number of powerful solo reed stops for dramatic effects. With careful use, the Dome Organ can also supplement the resources of the Chancel Organ in repertoire, assisting the instrument's westward projection. In 2007-08 the organ was completely restored by Mander Organs Ltd, consolidating the work of 1972-77, but also replacing the Dome reeds and providing a second, mobile console for use under the Dome (identical to the static Quire console). The transmission system was replaced in 2017, and at the same time the opportunity was taken to rationalise the overall philosophy of the instrument, with resulting changes to the stop layout, the provision of 10000 levels of general piston memory and a playback system that enables the organists to hear their own performances from all parts of the building.

There are two other organs that are used regularly on the Cathedral floor. The 'Willis on Wheels', a two-manual mobile organ built by Henry Willis in 1881, is a masterpiece of its time. There is also a Continuo Organ built in 1997 by Kenneth Tickell.

In the crypt, an outstanding new two-manual organ by William Drake that takes its inspiration from English instruments of the 18th century was installed in St Faith's Chapel (also known as the OBE Chapel) in 2012. There is also a two-manual practice organ by Robin Jennings available for regular use by the organists in the Choir Practice Room.
